NEW MUSIC PICK OF THE WEEK

Party hostess Carla Bozulich

CARLA BOZULICH'S FAKE PARTY

Can one prepare to be ambushed? I guess so, at least if the nature of the ambush stays hooded. Carla Bozulich (Geraldine Fibbers, Scarnella, etc.) is leaking only some of the elements of her Fake Party, which she describes as "new music dressed up like a party meets a social event disguised as art." Musicians, artists and other hijackers will include Nels Cline, Jeanette Wrate, Ethan Holtzman, Carol Cetrone, Erica Rawlings, Dave Stone, Geoff Brandon and Bob Weider. There'll be drinks and light eats. It'll be at the Schindler House, a historic cement bunker that looks like it was teleported from a suburb of Alpha Centauri. There'll be a visual component. And there'll be . . . interaction of some kind. Can't tell you any more, because I don't know any more (which feels good). But I want to find out, so I'll be among the first 200 who knock. A "sound" event at the Schindler House, 835 N. Kings Road, W. Hlywd.; Sun., Aug. 27, 7 p.m. (but you'd best arrive early). $8, $7 students. Advance tickets and info: (323) 651-1510. Dressing up is mildly encouraged. No parking on the street nearby, so you'll have to hike a few blocks from Santa Monica Boulevard.
